Democrat Hopes for G. O. P. Victory to Get 'American' in Cabinet

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—

Charging that Herbert Hoover was "one of the go-between Colonel House and members high in the British government during the negotiations preceding the entry of the United States into war," Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, launched a vigorous attack today in the senate against what he characterized as Mr. Hoover's "self-promoted boom for president."

Senator Reed said Mr. Hoover was so close to the British government that "he constituted a convenient connecting link" and challenged any member of the senate who doubted his statement to introduce a resolution of investigation.

Declaring that Mr. Hoover "served a tutelage all of his adult life" in the British service, Senator Reed said Hoover "never cast a vote in the United States unless he has voted since this war to qualify himself."

"When he was asked as to what party he belonged he said he thought he was a 'liberal,'" said Senator Reed. "Apparently he hasn't been in the United States enough to know the names of the political parties in this country and has to designate himself as 'liberal,' a British political organization."

Asserting that Mr. Gompers had not been patriotic during the war, Mr. Blanton charged that when Provost Marshal General Crowder issued his "Work of Fight Order" the labor leader openly opposed it, declaring he "would call a revolution." Blanton added that six thousand strikes occurred in this country during the war and that at times President Wilson had to "compel men to work."

Must Squelch Anarchy.

"Congress must either pass a sedition law which would squelch anarchy or else bear the mark of having bowed to Gompers," Mr. Blanton said. He added: "It is simply a question of whether you want to be re-elected."

Attacking the department of labor, Blanton said he hopes the republicans would be victorious in the coming presidential election "if it is impossible to obtain a democrat cabinet officer who stands for Americanism."

"The republicans will win anyway," Chairman Campbell interjected:

"Not if you vaccinate on this bill," Blanton retorted. "The people won't stand for you bowing to Gompers."

Fleeing Auditor Sent Rent for Room

By Associated Press Leased Wire

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 24.—John Little, auditor of the St. Louis Car Co., who disappeared last Thursday at the same time that $19,000 disappeared from the payroll of the company and who has been wanted by the police ever since, paused long enough yesterday to send $85 by wire to his landlady for the rent of his apartment up to February 27.

The telegram was sent from Lincoln, Ill. and the police of that city were immediately notified to apprehend Little, but word came back that he has left town, evidently on a trolley, as soon as he sent the telegram.

HONOR NURSES

Tomorrow Has Been Set Aside as as "Nurses' Day"

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Governors of twenty-one states have issued proclamations setting aside tomorrow as "nurses' day" in honor of the women who gave their services to the American soldiers in Europe and at home.

The governors have notified the 300 wounded men at Fort Sheridan, who launched the movement, that they would ask their people to wear a flower Sunday in honor of the armistice.

The special grand jury today was expected to push inquiry into the W. W. organization.

Extradition papers were being prepared today for those under indictment who are residents of other states. These include:

Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes, wife of J. G. Phelps Stokes, a millionaire Nicholas L. Houghrue, editor in chief of Novy Mir, a Russian newspaper published in New York; Charles E. Ruthenberg, of Cleveland, National secretary of the communist party; Louis E. C. Fraina, editor in chief of the communist party publication, Isaac E. Ferguson, chief counsel for the communist party and Alexander Stokolsky, who is reported to have forfeited his bonds and fled to Mexico. All of these were indicted yesterday, as members of the communist party.

Evidence concerning the activities of the communist party was made public by assistant state attorneys.

This consisted of the pledge it was said each member must sign upon entering the party, and extracts from the party's program.

Opposition to the proposed $150,000,000 food relief loan to Austria, Poland and Armenia and to an appropriation of $1,000,000 for additional army airplanes was expressed in the house today by Representative Mondell, the republican leader, who replied to charges by Representative Kitchen, former democratic leader, that the republican steering committee had blocked the relief bill before the ways and means committee.

Four attempts to rescue them yesterday failed. The men are short of provisions and the ship's coal supply will be exhausted by night.

Corn Closed Steady After Bullish Day

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Jan. 24.—PERSISTENT buying on the part of commission houses readily absorbed offerings today in the corn pit, and made prices stronger. Highest prices of the week were reached in the May delivery. Bullish factors included stormy weather, higher quotations on hogs and loosening of restrictions against export shipments of grain. The opening, which varied from the same as yesterday's finish to 3¢ higher, with May 1.35½@1.36 and July 1.33½ to 1.33½, was followed by moderate gains all around.

Prices tended upward with corn. After opening 3¢ to 3¢ higher, including May at 83¢ to 83½ the market continued to ascend.

Provisions were firmer as a result of upturns in the value of hogs and grain. Selling lacked volume.

Well end profit taking eased the market somewhat in the later dealings. Prices closed steady, at the same as yesterday's finish to 3¢ higher, with May 1.35½ to 1.36 and July 1.33½ to 1.33½.

Weekly Grain Review.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Jan. 24.—STEADY climbing of prices in the corn market has taken place this week chiefly as a result of rough weather and the scarcity of terminal supplies. Compared with a week ago, corn quotations this morning were 1½ to 2¢ met higher; oats carrying from unchanged figures to 1½ advance, and provisions at 65¢ decline to a rise of 20¢.

January delivery in particular showed the strain of the difficult situation brought about in the corn market by reason of storms and low temperatures adding to crop movement delay. In this connection, gossip was current that so much railway equipment was out of repair that any big increase of corn arrivals soon at primary centers was virtually impossible. Meanwhile, announcement of resumption of business dealings with Russia around much interest among grain traders, but opinions on the subject were so conflicting that the news failed to exercise any serious influence on prices here. British exchange at the lowest point on record and a tie up of eastbound grain traffic had a noticeable depressing effect, but not of a lasting character.

Absence of export bids took nearly all sprightliness out of the oats market.

Foreign exchange weakness pulled down provisions notwithstanding revised estimates of the number of swine on farms.

HAD SLEIGHRIDE—

Many members of the Young Woman's Bible Class of the Methodist church, taught by Mrs. Shawger, braved the old-fashioned storm of Friday afternoon to enjoy a sleighride to the home of Mrs. Mary Mossholder in South Dixon township. The place had been changed from the home of Mrs. Shawger as the latter had been called out of town by the death of a relative.

Thirty-seven women and children, besides the drivers, Mr. Cortright and Mr. Atkinson, and the pastor, Rev. E. C. Lumsden, composed the merry-making company who enjoyed every minute of the sleighride even to the going through fields on the return to avoid the big drifts. An excellent scramble dinner, games, and music, together with a short program, composed the enjoyable features of the period spent in Mrs. Mossholder's home.

This was especially designated as a "Hard Times Sleighride" and all had been warned not to come dressed in their best unless they wished to pay fines. However, despite the warning, $1.09 was collected in fines. This sum was added to the class treasury and is the class does much charitable work, was an acceptable addition. The class recently has done much for a Methodist Old People's Home. The class numbers 56 members.

PRESBYTERIAN MISSIONARY—

The Presbyterian Missionary society held its regular meeting on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. H. Brown.

Roll call was responded to by Bible texts on helpfulness. Mrs. S. W. Lehman had a paper on the Philippines, reading the subject exhaustively and in an unusually interesting manner. The hand-drawn map of the islands, which she used to illustrate her talk, was drawn by Prof. W. H. Coppins and its minuteness of detail added greatly to the mental conception of the members of the subject in hand. Mrs. Lehman told of the history of the islands, their condition before and after the occupation of the United States, the industries, etc. Mrs. Livingston gave a delightful reading, entitled, "The Brown Towel." A report of the treasurer, showing that the gifts during the year had been increased 50 per cent over the previous year, was greeted with enthusiasm. Regular business occupied the remainder of the meeting period with a pleasant social hour following.

Cottage cheese is an excellent meat saver. The amount of meat may be lessened but not eliminated.

Every scrap of milk should be saved and made into this old-fashioned but nourishing dish.

In cold weather it will probably be necessary to sour the milk. Then warm the milk in a pan of hot water for about half an hour. When the curd and whey have separated, pour off the whey. To do this I put a wet piece of cotton cloth in a colander and pour the curd into it. Let drain for several hours, until fairly dry. The whey has a sour taste and needs to be entirely removed. When the curd is dry work smooth with a spoon and add salt and pepper. I like to moisten the cheese with a little sweet cream—if I have it. The cream supplies the fat.

Menu for Tomorrow.

BREAKFAST—Halves of grape fruit, buckwheat cakes and sausage, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Pea souffle, hot rolls and butter, chopped pickle, cookies, tea.

DINNER—Tomato bouillon, English cut of beef, creamed potatoes with cheese, fried parsnips, celery, chocolate cream pie, coffee.

My Own Recipes.

When there are children in the family a cereal should always be provided for them, preferably a cooked one. I believe all little folks love pancakes and while these will not give the necessary growing foods there is no reason why a perfectly healthy, normal child should not eat one or two pancakes for his breakfast aside from his cereal.

PEA SOUFFLE.

2 tablespoons flour.

2 tablespoons butter.

1 cup milk.

1 cup mashed cooked peas.

2 eggs.

1 teaspoon salt.

1/4 teaspoon pepper.

1/2 tablespoon chopped parsley.

Make a white sauce of flour, butter, milk and salt. Add pulp of peas. Beat eggs separately. Add well beaten yolks to mixture. Fold in whites beaten until stiff and dry. Turn into a well buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven until firm to the touch, from 30 to 40 minutes.

CREAMED POTATOES WITH CHEESE.

2 cups boiled potatoes (diced)

2 cups milk

2 tablespoons flour.

2 tablespoons butter.

1 teaspoon salt.

1/4 cup diced or grated cheese.

Paprika.

Put potatoes into a buttered baking dish. Make a white sauce of the milk, flour and butter and pour over potatoes. Season with salt and paprika and add cheese. Put in a moderate oven until the cheese melts and runs through the sauce.

KEPT ROAD OPEN.

By running two interurban cars, one each way, yesterday afternoon the S. D. & E. was able to keep the road open, although the high wind drifted the snow into the cuts badly.

A MESSAGE.

CHAPTER 42.

I hated to go home to dinner; hated to talk with him, to know if he had succeeded in finding anything to do. But his condition the night before, my scene with his aunt, had made me nervous and unhappy all day.

He was there, lying down on the couch.

"Any luck today?" I asked when I saw him.

"Haven't tried. Thought I would wait until the first of the week. Saturday isn't any day to hunt a position."

"Have you been here all day?"

"No, I went over to Marion's and she made me stay to lunch. Then I ran into Carson Murphy on my way back, and walked almost home with him. He wanted me to say we would come up tomorrow, but I told him I couldn't until I had talked with you."

"I'm glad you said that! I promised Mary we would take dinner with her in her new flat. She was too funny. She promised not to try fancy dishes on us, but would try them first on the dog, then explained she meant herself. You don't mind going, do you? Of course we won't have as good a dinner as we would at Carson's."

"Of course I don't mind! Why should I? Mary is a good little sport like her grit, and she is amusing and makes one forget."

"Well, get up, lazy bones and we will go down to dinner. Everything will be cold if we don't hurry."

After dinner I proposed a motion picture. I just couldn't sit quietly all the evening and watch Robert's miserably unhappy face. I knew he was worrying about losing his position, that he probably had been humiliated by talking it over with Carson; and I felt sure he also would rather be where we wouldn't be obliged to talk.

"Unfortunately, the picture was all about a man who had lost his position, and it showed the straits his family were put to keep together. Finally the wife went to work, and altho she was then able to provide for them, the husband was soured because SHE could earn money when he couldn't."

"Poor devil!" I heard Robert say when the film woman handed her husband some money to buy tobacco.

"Lucky devil!" I whispered back, in a gay tone, "to have a wife to buy him smokes."

"I'll bet he doesn't think so."

We said no more until on the way home I asked:

"How did you like the pictures?"

Robert?

"Those educational pictures were fine. And I suppose the other was good enough. But I was so infernally worried for that poor devil, supported by a woman, and that woman his wife, that I hated the whole thing."

"I'm sorry. I thought you looked rather depressed, and the pictures might cheer you up."

"I know. I guess I'm all sorts of a grouch, Gerry. Forgive me, dear, I'll try not to be so gloomy again. Really I don't mean to make you unhappy because I'm a failure—it isn't fair."

"Don't talk about being a failure, Robert. I won't have it. And dear, you aren't a grouch—usually. You're let this get hold of you, and are unhappy. Please try and throw it off until Monday. You can't do anything until then, so let's be as happy as we can. And Robert—want you to know that it makes no difference with me, not one teenyweeny bit. I love you just the same whether you are working or idle. Of course I am anxious for you to have a position. But I should love you if you never had one."

"And support me, too, I suppose."

He laughed a little, then went on: "Oh, Gerry! the world's all wrong with me I guess. Or I am wrong with the world. I don't know. But here we are," we reached the steps of the boarding house just as a messenger boy rang the bell.

"There he is now," the landlady who had answered the bell, said to the boy. Then she pointed to Robert.

"For me?" Robert said, as the boy handed him the message.

"There ain't any other Mr. Meredith in the house," the landlady replied. "Please close the door, it is cold tonight."

Robert signed the book the boy gave him, then followed me up the stairs.

"What's in the message, dear?

"Aren't you going to tell me?" He had read it, then folded it up and put it in his pocket.

YOU CAN HELP LOWDEN.

Lee county people want Governor Lowden in the White House in Washington not only because he is an old friend and neighbor, but because we know he will make good as the nation's chief executive just as he has given Illinois a model administration. The prospects for the Ogle county man's nomination grow better every week.

We can all aid Lowden's candidacy by writing friends in other states and asking their votes and support. Do it today and help spread the Lowden influence.

SLIPPERY SIDEWALKS DOWNTOWN.

If the city would plank a few of the most slippery spots on downtown sidewalks we believe the action would be appreciated greatly by local folks and visitors. There are some particularly treacherous places on Galena avenue, north of First street, and on First street just west of the Galena avenue intersection, on the south side of the street. Many persons fall each day and some of them sustain serious injuries.

All walks are dangerous this time of year, but some of these spots are dangerous all the year around and right now are almost impossible to negotiate with safety.

CONCERNING THIRD TERMS.

In Philadelphia the other day, Attorney General Palmer told the newspaper interviewers:

"The President realizes that there is a certain sentiment throughout the country against a chief executive running for a third time, and while he has not made any definite statement that he will not be a candidate this year, his personal friends know he will not even consider it."

In 1912, Mr. Wilson ran upon a platform which declared against even a second term for Presidents. He subscribed to the principle that second terms were inimical to good government. Nevertheless, Mr. Wilson ran again in 1916. He made no comment upon the position of four years previous. The platform was as if it never had been.

We may be sure that if by the time the candidatures crystallize into clear and definite form Mr. Wilson desires to run again—if he feels he can carry the convention—if he translates a personal wish for the office into a sense of duty—he will enter the lists for the nomination. The time-honored prejudice against third term candidates will not deter him.

The greatest weakness in Mr. Palmer's statement is the declaration that "personal friends know" Mr. Wilson "will not even consider" running once more. Since the departure of Colonel House for his home in Texas and his apparent political outlawry the President has had no personal friends—not because no men wished to be so, but because Mr. Wilson has a distaste for intimacy. Not a single member of congress is in the President's confidence. Not a member of the cabinet can claim to speak for the President. For months Mr. Wilson has been becoming more and more aloof from the life around him, and his sickness has raised the barriers higher. Sentiment and sympathy have been unable to weaken the walls existing or stay the piling of new stones against close friendships.

Mr. Palmer speaks his own opinion only—and it may be—only his heart.

TREATMENT TO REDS SUBJECT OF A PROTEST

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Former Governor E. R. Dunne protested against the reported manner in which Chicago authorities had proceeded against radicals at meeting last night. Miss Jane Adams of Hull House presided and Prof. I. Freund of the University of Chicago also was a speaker.

Mr. Dunne declared he was forced to protest at the occurrences which the press reports to have taken place, he said, and added:

"If these descriptions are correct they are plainly violative of the constitutional rights of the people of this republic. A law breaker in office is as dangerous as a law breaker out of office."

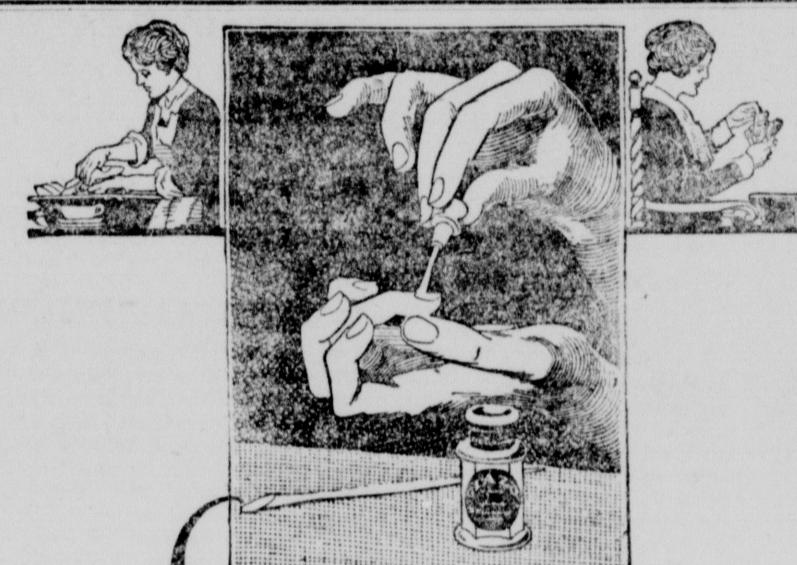

Prof. Freund who said he spoke from the standpoint of a constitutional lawyer, expressed doubt whether deportation proceedings "would stand a test in the United States supreme court."

A meeting to protest against deportation of aliens was called for Feb. 8.

City Officials Hope to Get Improvements Under Way Early.

The city commissioners plan to let the contracts for all proposed street improvements prior to March 1 in order to secure better prices and on account of the unsatisfactory price of all materials entering into street paving.

The program of improvements for the year 1920 consist of several blocks of concrete cement paving with one job of vitrified brick for West First street. The latter material for paving is probably the most expensive of any on the market at the present time and has been for some months.

In many cities, the commissions for councils have entirely rejected petitions for brick paving because of the high cost of brick blocks, and have used asphaltic concrete for street surfacing, which is much cheaper. Brick blocks cost $5.25 and asphaltic concrete $3.50 a square yard. It is said that paving brick cost two dollars a square yard at the factories. Brick manufacturers quote a price for a day, but will guarantee no price except the daily quotation. This condition prevails in other material lines, which never have fallen from war prices but to the contrary are still climbing.

and predictions point to a record price this spring on account of the vast amount of road building and the local improvements outlined in the various cities.

The price of materials used in paving will doubtless be one of considerable discussion at the regular meeting of the city council on Tuesday evening, when public hearings will be heard on some of the proposed local improvements for the year.

DIXON VICTORS
OVER MENDOTA IN HARD GAME

In probably the most thrilling and hard fought game ever staged in the local high school gymnasium the D. H. S. basket shooters won from Mendota high school by a score of 21 to 20. The teams were evenly matched, as the score indicates, although Dixon was somewhat heavier and outplayed their opponents in team work, but fell down in locating the baskets.

Many times Capt. Jones and his men, by clever passing, worked the ball through the Mendota defense, only to create "heart failure" among their loyal rooters by missing easy shots, and were it not for the stellar work of Bremer, the freshman guard, in shooting free throws, the story of the game would have been a sad one. Ben caged 5 out of the 7 trials in addition to playing a good floor game. This, along with Haley's speed in advancing the ball and the fine defensive work of Carl Santeen were easily the features of the game.

Mendota is Fast.

Mendota has a fast, clean aggregation who had the edge on the locals in shooting, making eight field goals to Dixon's seven. The first half was rather slow with Dixon having a decisive edge, but failing to take advantage of it. They were six points to the good before Mendota scored on a free throw. From that time on both teams showed more signs of life and the fight became harder until the end of the period, when Dixon led by three points. Score: Dixon, 14; Mendota, 11.

It was evident that both coaches had something to say to their players between halves, for the remainder of the contest was anybody's game until the final whistle. Ives replaced Santeen at guard, while Santeen took Hines place at center. The score sawed back and forth with one team having a one point lead and then the other.
